PRESS RELEASE – SBA 8A CERTIFICATION

September 30, 2019

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania – Visvero, Inc. is proud to announce its acceptance into the United States Small Business Administration's 8(a) Business Development Program. Visvero is a Pittsburgh-based Data Management, Business Intelligence and Analytical Applications development company started in 2003. Visvero provides Data/ Big Data Management, Business Intelligence and Analytical Applications development services and software engineering in Financial, Retail, Manufacturing, Oil & Gas and Public Sector.

The announcement follows a culmination of a 961-day effort from the initial application submission to the final acceptance. According to a Small Business Administration report from 2017, there were 30.2 million small businesses in the United States. As of June 2019, only 5,985 of them have successfully completed the process of obtaining their 8(a) certifications. This certification has a nine-year lifespan and allows participants to compete for set-aside and sole-sourced federal contracts.

The business development program also provides assistance from the SBA in navigating federal contracting, guidance in forming joint ventures, and management assistance (including business training, counseling, marketing assistance and high-level executive development).

"We are very much looking forward to this opportunity to build new partnerships and expand our operations with the Federal Government. This will also allow us to offer new IT services to the local and state customers in and around Pennsylvania who have been supportive and instrumental in the success of our company," says Arvind Handuu (Managing Director).
